The meeting will explore the relationship between form and function in biological macromolecules. Sessions on the structural analysis of proteins and the means by which form is attained will lead into sessions on how this form determines function. Talks at the meeting will cover the gamut from studies on single molecules in solution through membrane proteins to macromolecular assemblies examined using a variety of theoretical as well as experimental techniques.

SPEAKERS INCLUDE

Single Molecule Biology
- D. Bensimon, Ecole Normale Superieure, France
- K. Kinosita, Jr., Okazaki National Research Institutes, Japan
- A. Kusumi, Nagoya University, Japan
- N. Shimamoto, National Institute of Genetics, Japan
- G. V. Shivashankar, National Centre for Biological Sciences
- P. S. Weiss, The Pennsylvania State University, USA

Membrane Proteins: Structure, Function and Folding
- F. Bezanilla, University of California, USA
- P. Booth, University of Bristol, UK
- D. M. Engelman, Yale University, USA
- G. P. Hess, Cornell University, USA
- E. Isacoff, University of California, USA
- J. K. Lanyi, University of California, USA
- M. K. Mathew, National Centre for Biological Sciences
- W. Stuehmer, Max-Planck Institute for Experimental Medicine, Germany
- L. Tamm, University of Virginia, USA

Motors and Macromolecular Assemblies
- H. C. Berg, Harvard University, USA
- T. L. Blundell, University of Cambridge, UK
- J. Kuriyan, University of California, USA
- J. A. Spudich, Stanford University, USA
- R. D. Vale, University of California, USA

Structural Analysis and Folding of Biomolecules
- P. Balaram, Indian Institute of Science, India
- W. DeGrado, University of Pennsylvania, USA
- J. Fernandez, Columbia University, USA
- L. Regan, Yale University, USA
- A. Sali, University of California, USA
- R. Sowdhamini, National Centre for Biological Sciences
- J. B. Udgaonkar, National Centre for Biological Sciences
- M. Zuker, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, USA

Networks
- U. Alon, Weizmann Institute of Science, Israel
- M. Elowitz, The Rockefeller University, USA
- E. D. Siggia, The Rockefeller University, USA

Registration:
Registration form can be downloaded at http://www.ncbs.res.in/~events/mmn.html and sent duly completed along with the payment by post or courier to the organisers.
